SUMMARY

I graduated from the Estonian Entrepreneurship University of Applied Sciences with a Bachelor's degree in Financial Management. Following my academic journey, I established my own company, where I specialize in offering comprehensive services in accounting, tax consulting, and financial management. For a long time, I believed that my passion lay firmly within the realm of finance. However, an unexpected twist occurred as I began to dabble in smaller IT projects. The more I delved into the intricacies of technology, the more I found myself fascinated by the limitless potential and creativity it offered. My desire is to combine my knowledge in the financial sector with IT expertise to offer clients the best possible solutions.
